Description

A 6,773 square meter building plot in Anglisides offers substantial scope for residential or commercial development. The land commands panoramic views and benefits from proximity to the highway, ensuring straightforward access for construction and future use.

The plot's size and positioning make it suitable for a range of projects, from a substantial single residence to a multi-unit development, depending on local planning permissions and zoning requirements. The panoramic aspect provides visual appeal for any structure sited here.

Anglisides is a village in Cyprus with road access to wider regional amenities. The highway proximity supports connectivity to larger towns and commercial centers across the island.
